1 BABY TEETHING NECKLACES

What is Baltic amber teething necklace?

A Baltic amber teething necklace is made for wearing (not chewing) when a baby is teething. The warmth from the skin releases the active ingredient in the Baltic amber, succinic acid. Recent scientific research has proven that succinic acid has a very positive influence on the human body. It improves immunity and the balance of acids when absorbed into the bloodstream, it stimulates the thyroid glands to help reduce drooling and soothes red inflamed cheeks.

Amber's anti-inflammatory and therapeutic properties are recognised by allopathic medicine as a natural analgesic, which will help to relieve teething pain and calm a baby without resorting to drugs. The skin's warmth releases healing oils from the amber, a resin, which is absorbed into the bloodstream.

Dimensions of amber teething necklace are:

- Weight: 5.5grams-8.00grams in weight
- Length: 11.5-12.5 inches long or (31centimeters-32centimeters long)
- Material: natural 100% authentic Baltic amber is used to make amber teething necklace

Amber teething necklace facts:

- A natural analgesic, amber will help calm a baby without resorting to drugs.
- Amber is a fossilized resin, not a stone. It is therefore warm to the touch, as well as very comfortable and light to wear.
- Wearing Baltic amber necklaces on the skin can have a soothing and calming effect on teething babies and toddlers.
- When amber is worn on the skin, the skin's warmth releases miniscule amounts of healing oils from the amber, which are then absorbed via the skin into the bloodstream.
- Amber's anti-inflammatory and therapeutic properties are also recognized by allopathic medicine. In Austria, Switzerland and Germany, you will find amber teething necklaces sold in local pharmacies.

How does teething beads work?

It reduces red inflamed cheeks and stimulates the thyroid glands to reduce drooling. Amber is associated with sunlight and warmth and reputed to boost the immune system, reduce inflammation, accelerates the healing of wounds, reduce inflammation of the throat, ear and stomach infections and respiratory disease. There are no tablets, medications or pastes that can compete with this amber teething necklace, the necklace is unique and has amazing results which are all natural.

Are amber teething necklaces safe?

As a safety feature there is a knot before and after each bead, so that even in the extremely unlikely event of the string being torn, no beads are lost and there is no risk of choking. Amber teething necklaces are secured with a traditional screw clasp, not a hook and ring. The screw thread has been glued into the barrel of the clasp. Our clasps are designed to release if any pressure is applied to the joint.

Unique necklaces:

This beautiful handmade amber teething necklace glows warmly against baby's skin. It is made from high grade 100% Baltic Amber and, as a natural product, you can expect to find air bubbles and natural particles within the amber itself. No two beads or necklaces are exactly alike. As the beads are all natural Baltic Amber the colour and shape of the beads may vary.

Warranty:

Each necklace carries a one month guarantee on the manufacturing process but should the clasp or string break it will be repaired at a nominal fee.
